

Developing depth and mastery in reading

A practical exploration of a mastery approach to reading

1st February

The A. W. Robinson Classroom in the woods,
North East Lincolnshire

During the day we will explore the mastery approach to learning and how the principles can be applied to word reading and reading comprehension. The day will be suitable for class teachers wishing to develop mastery teaching in their classrooms or subject leaders and senior teachers wishing to develop the approach across their school.

Teachers attending the day will;

- understand mastery models and approaches;
- learn practical strategies for developing mastery in word reading and reading comprehension;
- discover simple ways to use a mastery approach to narrow the attainment gap in reading and provide challenge for all;
- consider approaches to recording, giving feedback and assessing greater depth in reading.

All teachers will leave the day with a toolkit of resources to use in their classroom.

Cost: £120 per delegate including lunch and all resources

To book your place, please contact enquiries@emmarogers.org.uk

Emma Rogers is an experienced advisor with an extensive knowledge of literacy, assessment and learning. She provides consultancy support to local authorities, schools and networks on a range of projects to develop learning and literacy. With a varied career as classteacher, senior school leader and teaching and learning consultant, she worked for several years for the Primary National strategies leading the successful Every Child a Writer programme. She has a history of raising attainment and broad educational expertise with a track record of effective educational leadership and project management to deliver a national programme involving over 130 Local Authorities and 1200 Leading teachers. She now operates as a freelance consultant offering the design, delivery and evaluation of professional development programmes and materials, drawing on years of experience as an outstanding classteacher.